

Love, Like, Dislike Circle Activity

Directions:

1. Invite students to write something they love or that is important to them in the center circle.
2. Students will leave their page on their desk. Students will circulate to other students' work and write their name in the circle that best reflects their opinion about what is in the center circle.
3. Invite students to return to their desks to review their classmates' opinions.
4. After they review their pages, guide students in a discussion using the provided questions.

Discussion Questions:

- What surprised you about what you see on your own sheet?
- What did you learn about a classmate from this activity?
- What does this activity teach us about empathy and kindness in our classroom?
- What can we learn about different perspectives from this activity?
- How can we apply this idea to bigger issues that we are facing in the world today?

Example

I Don't Know

Name _____

I Don't Know

